TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 16.—In a militant and confident mood, Gov. Alfred M. Landon today announced a surprise dash to the West Coast for a major address in Los Angeles the night of October 29, to be followed by a swift trans-continental tour winding up with a two-day visit to New York City, October 28 and 29.

Enroute east from California, the Republican nominee will deliver important speeches in Oklahoma City on October 23, in Indianapolis on Oct. 24, in Philadelphia on October 26 and in Pittsburgh on Oct. 27. He also announced he would close his campaign for the Presidency with a final address in St. Louis the night of Saturday, Oct. 31 just three days before the election.

Landon's announcement of the unexpected cross-country trip to Los Angeles came with the same startling suddenness of his decision for the "dash to Maine." Just as he said he was going to Maine to "lead a victory parade," so Landon announced the trip to California with a forecast of Republican success. His Maine prediction came true.

"I am going to California," he said, with great seriousness, "because we are going to carry it. Besides, I want to visit the Pacific coast just as well as the Atlantic coast."

Installing New Heating System in Fire Station

CROYDON, Oct. 16.—The Croydon Fire Company held its monthly meeting Tuesday night, with President Charles J. Winchester presiding. Reports were made by chairmen of the various committees.

A report was made that a new hot-air heating system was being installed to replace one that had deteriorated. A report was made as to progress in strengthening the roof and walls of the fire house. After this latter work is finished the engine house roof and a portion of the main roof will receive a new covering. The material for the same has been purchased.

Bills in the amount of $968.93 were ordered paid. The major portion of these expenditures was a note due in the amount of $754.37 as second payment on the new apparatus purchased a year ago. The balance was in payment of the new heating system, new roofing, coal supply and other miscellaneous expenses necessary to upkeep. After the deduction of all bills there was a reported balance of $275.90 in the treasury.

William Smith, chairman of the entertainment committee announced the next dance will be held on November 9th. A committee is planning to conduct the second annual turkey trot, sometime in November previous to Thanksgiving Day, the date to be announced later.

An auditing committee was appointed by the president. Nomination of officers will take place at the November meeting. Lester Williams, foreman, reported no fire call for the month. All members were requested to attend the public meeting in the fire house on Friday night to discuss electric lighting of Croydon streets.

MEETS MAJOR CASTEJON

SANTA OLALLA, Spain, Oct. 16.—(INS)—The funniest thing I have ever seen in this war was a soldier of the Legion trying to fill his cigarette lighter at the gasoline filling station pump here on the public square of this war-wrecked town last night. I was waiting for Lieutenant Nangle to come back and let me know if I had anywhere to sleep. The soldier kept turning the pump and running out gallons of gasoline over his cigarette lighter which needed only a teaspoonful, but he never did get it full, and went off cursing, drenched with gas.

Nangle had miraculous news. He told us the commander of the column was Major Castejon, most famous of all the commanders of independent columns on this front, and that the major had invited us to dine with him that night. Out of dinner might come a place to sleep, so we were delighted on every score. I had particularly wanted to meet Castejon after having met nearly every other high officer of the Legion and the Regulares operating in this sector.

We picked our way through the piles of rubbish, past camp fires with groups of Moors around them cooking their suppers of tomatoes, onions and rice. The Legion had other fires blazing and the darkness beyond the firelight hid the filth and wreckage so the romance of war came creeping out of hiding. The Moors crooned Arab songs and the Legionnaires sang the

A BOGEY SCARE

To the Editor of The Bulletin: Being a constant reader of your paper, I would like you to enlighten me.

I am a Republican and have never been anything else; but my son, who has always been the same this year has become a Democrat and tells me if I do not vote for Roosevelt and he does not become President, we are sure to have war later on. He says this because DuPont and Morgan are loaning money to the Republican party so that if Landon gets in we shall have war and they will make a pile of money on powder and guns. I hope you can understand this and give a write up as there are others who feel as I do.

A READER.

There is no sillier bogey paraded in the whole nation-wide campaign than the scare that the election of Governor Landon would involve this nation in the possibility of foreign war. In the first place Presidents do not have the power to declare war. That is solely within the power of Congress. In the second place the picture of the Governor of Kansas, in the Peaceful Valley of the Mid-west, definitely representative of the State which has elected him as its Chief Executive, as a "jingo" conspiring to drag or drive the United States into another World War, is absurd. And thirdly there is the patent fact that this nation has set its face against

ATTENTION REPUBLICAN WPA WORKERS

The WPA Worker is an American citizen and has the right to vote as he pleases and without intimidation. The Constitution of the United States guarantees to him the secrecy of the ballot.

There are not many Republicans in Bucks county who have been able to get a WPA job and many of those who did so, were obliged to register Democratic or not get the job.

That is the Roosevelt-Farley way of handling relief, not only in Bucks county but all over the State.

Now the relief worker is further INTIMIDATED AND THREATENED.

He is told by Democratic Committeemen and their henchmen, that the Democratic Party Workers on Election Day will have a way of knowing how each WPA or relief voter will vote—and if they find out that such WPA voter did not vote the Democratic ticket, he would lose his job the day after Election.

PAY NO ATTENTION TO SUCH THREATS.

Communism is not yet ruling this country, although Tugwell and the rest of the President's Brain-Trusters are doing their best to establish Soviet rule in America.

Unless the whole Election Board in the district in which you vote is crooked, and that is unlikely, as our Election Boards have uniformly been honest and competent, NOT A SINGLE SOUL WILL KNOW HOW YOU VOTE.

After you receive your ballot from the Clerk of Election, enter the voting booth, draw the door or curtain and mark your ballot as your conscience dictates.

After you have marked your ballot BE SURE TO TEAR OFF THE NUMBER ON THE BALLOT ON THE UPPER RIGHT HAND CORNER ON THE BACK OF THE BALLOT! Fold up your ballot and deposit it in the ballot box—and no one but yourself will know how you cast your ballot.

Republican watchers will be on hand at every polling place to see that the Elections are legally conducted and no voter intimidated or threatened.

There is a penalty of five years in jail and a $1000 fine for the violation of the Election Laws by an election officer, and a penalty of $1000 fine and two years in jail FOR ANY PERSON WHO SHALL INTIMIDATE OR INTERFERE WITH A VOTER OR INDUCE ANY VOTER TO SHOW HOW HIS BALLOT WAS MARKED BEFORE DEPOSITING IT IN THE BALLOT BOX.

WILL THE AMERICAN PEOPLE CHOOSE THE MAN WHO HAS SAID?

"In my opinion, relief is not a political issue at all. It is a matter of fundamental Christianity. And let me say a word here and now, that I, for one, am dedicated to the proposition that henceforth no American citizen shall ever again be put into a position where he has to sell his votes for bread."

GOVERNOR ALFRED M. LANDON, of Kansas, May 7, 1936.

LANGHORNE AUXILIARY HOSTESS TO COUNCIL

151 Women Gather From 16
Units of American Legion
Auxiliary

MONTGOMERY & BUCKS

LANGHORNE, Oct. 16.—With 151 women gathering from 16 units, the Montgomery-Bucks Bi-County Council of American Legion Auxiliaries conducted its monthly sessions in the Langhorne Methodist Church, yesterday. The hostess organization was the Auxiliary of Jesse W. Soby Post, of which Miss Catherine Keating is president.

The high-light of the business meeting during the afternoon, was an address by Mrs. James Casey, Philadelphia, Eastern vice-president of the state department, who challenged the officers and members to greater endeavor in the months to come.

Mrs. Abel Frankfield, Lansdale, president of the Council, was the presiding officer for the day, at both the luncheon table in the social hall, and at the meeting which followed in the church auditorium.

Gathered about the luncheon tables, which were decorated with Fall flowers, orange candles, and Halloween favors of miniature vases in the form of black cats, were members of the following units from the two counties: Ambler, Ardmore, Bristol, Collegeville, Doylestown, Fort Washington, Langhorne, Lansdale, Morrisville, Newtown, Norristown, North Wales, Perkasie, Pottstown, Sellersville, Willow Grove. The officers attending totaled five; members, 132; and guests, 14.

At the luncheon table the Rev. Walter Humphries, pastor of the Langhorne M. E. Church, and chaplain of Jesse W. Soby Post, asked the blessing. Harry Friedrich, commander of the Soby Post, extended a welcome to the visitors on behalf of the post, and expressed the desire that all members would strive to continue the good work they have been carrying on. "The American Legion is proud of you," Mr. Friedrich informed the women. Commander of the ninth district of the Legion, Harold L. Reese, Ardmore, told of his pleasure over the place being made by the ninth district members in the work of the state department. "Encourage the men in the work of the Legion," he urged.

Preliminaries at the business meeting included prayer by Mrs. Roy Smith, Ambler, chaplain of the Council; salute to the flag, and singing of the national anthem.

After being presented to the gathering by the president, Mrs. James Casey, the Eastern vice-president, told of the responsibilities of the various chairmen in the council work, and stated, "We know how capably each of you can carry out the duties assigned to you."

Fortieth Anniversary Of Langhorne Sorosis Marked

LANGHORNE, Oct. 16.—Observing its 40th anniversary yesterday afternoon, Langhorne Sorosis looked back through the years to the organization date, 1896.

The covered dish luncheon party was largely attended in the library, and the program of the afternoon presented by a number of past presidents of the organization was most unique.

Two birthday cakes were served with the luncheon, these attractive cakes bearing the words "Langhorne Sorosis 1896," and "Langhorne Sorosis 1936." The blessing was asked by Mrs. Henry Cunningham.

The program, in which the past presidents participated, included accounts of the organization's history from the time of organization to the present, and as each period was presented, a popular song of that time was sung. Some of the participants gave their numbers in poetry form, or in song. Then each as she finished placed her ruby in the jewel box. At the conclusion the box of jewels was presented to the present president, Mrs. Paul Bennett, who in turn placed upon the shoulders of the past presidents the colors of Sorosis. This historical sketch, entitled "Time Marches On," was arranged by Mrs. Edgar Fruthey, Jr.

The presidents of Sorosis from 1896 to the present included: Mrs. Joseph Escherick, 1896-1901; Mrs. Susan Gilman, 1901-04; Mrs. Ezekiel Pryor, 1904-06; Mrs. Thomas Allen, 1906-09; Mrs. Henry L. ### Credit Rotary Movement For Spread of Peace Idea

"Rotary's efforts and endeavors to establish an international peace and good will" was the theme of a talk delivered before a large group of Bristol Rotarians yesterday at the Elks Home by the Rev. George Young, member of the Jenkintown Rotary Club.

"Good business relations, developed through the formation of Rotary clubs throughout the world are responsible for a large part of the program of peace," the Rev. Young stated.

The speaker pointed out that in foreign countries the clubs of these countries hold international, or joint country meetings, with the result that their differences are discussed and ironed out and the idea of peace becomes more lasting and of a greater value.

"Rotary's program is to create, through these clubs of business men, international peace and good will," the speaker stated.

Many illustrations of a "natural hatred for foreigners" were related by the Rev. Young who said that these hatreds can be broken down by the business contacts and associations of the Rotarians.

The speaker also pointed out that when the white man first came to America that there existed a mutual hate between him and the Indian, but that later, when the two groups understood each other's problems, then the feeling of a real friendship sprung into being.

Tells Exchange Club About Making Plexiglass

Twenty-two members of the Bristol Exchange Club gathered at the Elks Home last evening to listen to a talk on "The New Chemical Process, Plexiglass," given by Leslie Helwig, of Rohm and Haas Company.

Qualities and properties of this new type of glass were described by Mr. Helwig, pointing out that the process for the manufacture was first developed in Germany and then further developed here at the Rohm & Haas chemical plant.

The glass, which is made entirely of organic materials, is said to be more transparent than ordinary glass and Helwig said that in the future it will take the place of the non-shatter glass now used extensively in automobiles.

The speaker also pointed out that the strength of this new product far exceeds that of most other glasses now in use, and that the airplane industry has adopted this new material because of its greater transparency and its property of being very easily shaped to any desired position.

This Strange New Deal

"We advocate an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures . . . to accomplish a saving of not less than 25% in the cost of Federal government."

—Democratic Platform, 1932.

Instead of reducing the cost of government by 25% the Roosevelt administration increased it by 72%.

The cost of New Deal government in 1936 should have been $3,865,000,000; it actually was $8,880,000,000!

THE LID IS ON

In January, 1934, Harry L. Hopkins, the perfect picture of candor and with nothing up his sleeve except a couple of billion, sent to his subordinates the following order:

"I want to make it perfectly clear that all civil works payrolls and records of purchase of supplies are public records and therefore open to inspection."

That was two years ago. WPA, the Presidential campaign and Mr. Hopkins have changed all that. WPA payrolls, vouchers and records are now available only to those who have "a legitimate reason to see them." Mr. Hopkins "won't allow these records to be abused by individuals who would exploit them if they got their hands on them."

From Mr. Hopkins last June came the order that made frankness a hidden asset in the New Deal's greatest spending agency. He instructed subordinates to refuse information to any person not having "official" business with WPA. Inquiries were to be referred to Mr. Hopkins. So far as WPA was concerned the lid was on as completely as in Germany, Italy or Russia.

What about the people who carry the ball for New Deal profligacy? Well, what about them? Entitled to what facts? Don't be so old-fashioned. What "legitimate" interest could they have in ascertaining where and to whom their money goes? All they have to do is foot the bills.

Plainly Mr. Hopkins believes the old political axiom that the public's business is nobody's business. The censorship he has imposed is as stupid as it is arrogant. For politically it will give color to Republican charges that WPA is steeped in incompetence, politics and extravagance.

Bearing on the situation are the circumstances which have led Colonel William E. Hoyer to resign as head of the WPA investigating unit in New York City. The resignation comes as the aftermath to his unit's uncovering gross laxities in the timekeeping and checking system of WPA in the course of a survey into the welfare of the workers. The "incredible" conditions found were incorporated in a general report, which Lieutenant Colonel Brehon B. Somervell did not make public until after its existence became known outside the organization. That was in August.

The check had covered only 2,084 of the 200,000 on the WPA payroll. Colonel Hoyer prepared to extend it. He charges that he was stymied by the assistant director of employment and the director of welfare, who knew from what had been shown that "it would be disastrous to permit such a survey to dig into the conditions existing in other WPA projects." So last Friday Colonel Hoyer was notified his investigators were to be transferred to other jobs, he decided to quit to preserve his sense of self-respect.

POCKETBOOK FACTS ABOUT YOUR TAXES

Process Taxes Heavy Burden

Processing taxes were among the most oppressive of the indirect taxes which have been in effect under President Roosevelt. Until invalidated by the Supreme Court, these taxes were a heavy charge on numerous articles of food and clothing. More than a billion dollars were collected during the more than two years that they were in effect.

The processing tax on wheat amounted to as much as 50 per cent while the price was low. For a single calf of bread it meant a tax of as much as 5 per cent. The tax on cotton was equal to as much as 40 per cent, hogs as much as 25 per cent and corn as much as 10 per cent. Taxes of equally large percentages were applied on tobacco, peanuts, rice and sugar.

With few exceptions the taxes were passed on to the consumer by the processors who paid them.

Credentials

ONLY the rashest of mortals will risk the unknown. A tumble over Niagara in a barrel, for instance, or a stratosphere flight. Few of us are willing to rush in where angels fear to tread. We seek precedent for our every move—in the food we eat, in the clothes we wear, in the places we go.

The advertisements in this paper are the signed credentials of firms which seek your business. They are not only letters of introduction, but pledges of faith. You may accept them because they mean that a lot of people have bought before you—and have been satisfied.

Before you run downtown, run down the list of things offered every day in the advertisements. See what interests you . . . what meets your needs without burdening your budget. Check and choose before you get out the car or signal a bus.

Combing the advertising pages in advance is a labor-saving, leather-saving device. In short, the people who regularly read the advertisements are getting the most for their money. And that's good business, any way you look at it.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

Sermon delivered in the Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour by Dr. Andrew G. Solla, Sunday evening, before a large audience of church members and members of the Sons of Italy and the Italian Mutual Aid Society.

(Translation of the sermon from Italian into English delayed its publication)

People of all nations and tribes have contributed something for the welfare of mankind, but no nation or tribe has contributed as much as the Latin race, and especially the people of Italy to proper.

The laws of all civilized nations are based upon the Roman Law, and especially upon the Justinian Code. Wherever the Roman Legions went, not only did they build bridges, roads and cities, but brought with them law and order.

However, let us think of the more modern Italy, and her contribution toward the welfare of humanity. When in 1453 the Turks captured Constantinople not only did they destroy the Christian religion, but every vestige of western civilization and culture as well. However, many of the scholars who were able to escape the cruel Turks, found a haven in the City of Florence, Italy. With them they brought the precious Greek manuscripts with which they created the great desire to delve into the glorious past, they made Florence the center of the new learning, so much so that it was called the "Athens of Italy." So it was, that from Florence went forth the marvelous light of the Renaissance to illuminate all of the other European nations with culture and civilization. And what shall we say of Art as expressed in the masterpieces of Michelangelo, Raffaele, Giotto, Tintoretto and many others. In music Italy has been the chief exponent through Palestrina, Verdi, Rossini and scores of others. In science, what shall we say of Galileo, who after having made the great discovery would not retract, but rather when brought before his inquisitors he cried out: "E pur si muove" (Yet it moves). Marconi with his marvelous invention, wireless telegraphy, we can just by turning a small dial hear the voice of man thousands of miles away, the magic of radio. It was through his wonderful invention that some 1200 people were saved when the Atlantic swallowed the great Titanic, and today every ship on sea and in the air is equipped with wireless, and thousands of lives are now saved annually, without which they would be lost.

But you say what does this have to do with Columbus? Well, my friends, you can not build a house unless you build first its foundation, hence this rather long introduction.

In 454 Attila, the Hun, called the scourge of God, overran the falling Roman Empire, and some of the noble citizens of the small cities of the Adriatic fled with their families and effects to the inaccessible swamps and islands at the extremity of that sea, where they became fishermen and small traders. In the process of time they united their islands by bridges, and laid the foundation for the great mercantile city of Venice. It became in the course of the centuries the great mistress of the sea. Her ships went all over the then known world bringing her wares wherever she could find markets for them. Two of her citizens, Nicolo and Maffeo Polo found their way to the court of the Great Khan of Tartary, whose Empire was the largest in the world. These two brothers told the Khan of their civilization, of their Christian Faith, and of their great bishop, who resided in Rome. The Great Khan loaded them with wealth, and sent them back to their native country, commissioning them to present his cause to the bishop of Rome, and tell him to send to his court one hundred wise men, who should teach his people the Christian faith. But when Nicola and Maffeo returned to Italy, they found that there was no pope at the head of the church. For some years they waited that the cardinals would come to some agreement and choose a pope to whom they could present the plea of the Great Khan, but when they failed to do so the two brothers got tired of waiting, and returned to the Khan to inform him that there was no longer a bishop in Rome to whom to present his plea. Nicola took with him, beside his brother Maffeo, his own son Marco Polo.

Marco Polo spent 17 years in the realm of the great Khan, and he traveled far and wide. He returned to Italy with immense wealth in precious stones and other Eastern commodities. The report of his wonderful venture spread throughout Europe like wildfire. He told of a certain island called Cipango, which we now know as Japan, which represented to contain 6,000,000 families, and that the palaces of the rich, and of its nobles were covered with plates of gold. All therefore, after this report desired to reach Cipango, there to find wealth, there to enjoy the earthly paradise. It became a passion with the people of Europe to get the riches and the spices of India. When in 1453 Constantinople was captured by the Turks, to which we have already made reference, it became impossible for the Christians of Europe to reach the El Dorado of the East by that way. They could not sail around Africa, they thought, for to sail that way, was to encounter torrid suns with ever-increasing heat and suffocating vapors. As a matter of fact, they even believed that they would encounter serpents that would swallow ships and crews. No one surmised that there was a Cape of Good Hope, which could be doubled, and thus reach the Indian Ocean.

Among those who meditated this geographical myst, y was a young sea captain, born in Genoa, probably in 1446, his name was Christopher Columbus. He had been a student at the University of Pavia, and in the year 1470 married the daughter of an Italian navigator, living in Lisbon. He settled in Lisbon, and made his living making maritime charts. But the love of finding Cipango inflamed his soul. He must find it, but how? Only by sailing directly due west. But, alas, when he told the world that Cipango could be reached by sailing west, the world it was impossible. To the learned told him that he was out of his mind, mind of both the churchmen and the laymen the world was still flat, and he could not get very far before his ships would get at its edge, and be lost. In spite of this the inquisitive mind of Columbus would not give him rest. He was convinced that the East could be reached by sailing West. He went from court to court, from country to country pleading his cause, but no one would give him a hearing. The kings and princes were too busy with wars and pleasure to lend their ears to such impossibility. After nearly 17 years of roaming, and finding no help, he became so poor that he had to sell his charts and maps to pay his debts, and because he had no means to pay all of them, he dare not go back to Lisbon, where he would have been thrown into prison.

I believe that it was an English writer who said that: "Truly immortal benefactors have seldom been able to accomplish their mission without the encouragement of either women or saints." . . . This surely was true of Columbus.

The door to success was at last opened to him by a friendly and sympathetic friar of the Franciscan convent near the little port of Palos. The sun-burned and disappointed adventurer stopped at the door of this convent to ask for his son, who accompanied him, a morsel of bread. The kindly friar took him in, and Columbus opened his heart to him. The friar believed him, not because he (the friar) was a learned man, but because his pious soul was full of kindly sympathy, showing that the instincts of love are kindred to the inspirations of genius. This friar forwarded Columbus' plans by letter to a powerful ecclesiastic, who in turn introduced him to the Spanish Court. But while Ferdinand received him kindly, yet he was not much interested in him, nor in his plans. Ferdinand was too busy expelling the Moors from Spain, who now, by the way are being brought back by the revolutionists, to pay attention to such impossible scheme. However, his wife, Isabella of Castile, listened more kindly to this stranger, whom the greatness of his mission inspired him with eloquence. At last after a long wait, Ferdinand and Isabella gave him three small ships, Santa Maria, La Nina, and La Pinta, and on August 3, 1492, singularly enough, he set sail for the unknown, from Palos, within the sight of the little convent, where he had received his first encouragement.

In our Scripture lesson for this evening we have read the account of how the Lord Christ and His disciples were crossing the Sea of Galilee, and a great tempest arose, the poor disciples fearing for their very lives, awakened the Master, and asked Him to do something, and save them, and He arose, and rebuked the wind, and said to the sea "Peace, be still," and at once the furious waves became calm, and they continued the journey in peace and safety. The same eternal Son of God must have calmed the sea for this benefactor of humanity, for as he set sail from Palos the very winds gently wafted his ships through the unknown ocean. He met no obstacles of any kind, as far as the natural elements were concerned, the skies were serene, the sea as smooth as an inland lake. They sailed on and on with no land in sight. The sailors clamored to return to Spain. They threatened his life. The wise Columbus tries to calm them with promises that they soon would see land, the Land of Cipango, the land of precious jewels and gold, and that they would become rich, and he had seen strange birds and weeds, which proved that they were near land. At last on the 12th day of October, 1492, land was discovered. Not a continent as he first thought, but a little island, one of the Bahamas group. In great pomp, as an admiral of the seas and viceroy of the king, in purple doublet, and with a drawn sword in one hand and the standard of Spain in the other, followed by officers in appropriate costume, and a friar bearing a cross, which was solemnly planted on the shore, and called the land San Salvador.

It was true that he did not find gold and precious stones, but naked men and women without any indication of civilization whatsoever, yet he had discovered a new world, even though he did not know it. After this again he set sail for Cipango. He cruised among the Bahamas, discovered Cuba and Hispaniola, now called Haiti. Explored the coasts, and held intercourse with the natives, and he was transported with enthusiasm in view of the beauty of the country. He left a small number of men on the Island of Hispaniola, as colonists, and set sail for Spain, where he was received with great enthusiasm. The people gazed at him with admiration. His sovereigns, who at first had very little faith in him, now arise at his approach, and seat him beside themselves on their gold gilded and canopied throne, what honors could be too great for this adventurous Italian sailor, who had added a continent to the crown of Ferdinand and Isabella?

Soon a second expedition was under way. This time Columbus found no difficulty to get men to go with him. Many of the proudest nobles of Spain went with him, artisans, miners, priests and friars, in all 17 ships, and 15000 people. But alas, when they arrived at Hispaniola, found no gold, silks and precious stones, but found that the colonists had not kept faith with the natives, and so many of them had been killed, others had died from the terrible tropical fevers, and from the lack of proper food. The new arrivals made things hard for Columbus, evil reports were sent back to Spain about him, at last the king sent a commission of inquiry under the leadership of Aguado, who made it necessary for Columbus to return to Spain. When he landed in 1496, he found that his popularity had declined, and the enthusiasm of his first return had grown cold. While his sovereigns received him kindly, yet he was depressed and disappointed, so he went about clothed in a Franciscan habit to denote his humility and dejection. He displayed some golden collars and bracelets as trophies, and some Indians, but the enthusiasm of yore was gone.

He made the third voyage, and reached the mainland of Brazil, but again he thought that it was only an island, and made his way back to Hispaniola, where he had left the discontented colony. He found it in a worse state than he had left it under the care of his brother Bartholomew. The Indians had proved very hostile, the colonists were lazy, turbulent and impudent, mutiny had broken out. There was a general desire to leave the colony and return to Spain. At last another commission came from Spain under the leadership this time, of Bovadilla, who arrested Columbus and his brothers and sent them back to Spain, not loaded with gold, but with iron chains. What a change of fortune for so great a genius? He was received at the court with the promise that his grievances should be redressed and his dignity restored. Again he was allowed to make the fourth voyage, however, nothing came out of it, but hardships and broken health. He returned to Spain, where he died in the year 1506 a disappointed man, never knowing that he had discovered a new world, and that he had been a great benefactor to all mankind. He should have been honored by naming the new world that he had discovered after his name. But that honor was given to another son of Italy, Americus Vesputi, who made some voyages to the New World, made a map, and told the world that he had found a new continent.

We honor Columbus, not because he was an Italian only, but because he was a great benefactor to millions and billions of people. We honor him, because he belongs to that great company of immortal men, that the Al-

Theodore R. Gardner, Republican candidate for Congress, Bucks-Lehigh district, addressed the group. There were other addresses made during the evening by the Hon. Wilson L. Yeakey, candidate for re-election to the state assembly; Robert Taylor, Philadelphia, Mrs. Daisy Berry, Philadelphia; A. Harry Clayton, Doylestown; Joseph Peaker, New Hope; Harry Clark, Bethlehem; and Robert Duncon, Montgomery County.

John Payne, Quakertown, president of the association, took charge of the meeting upon his arrival. All of the speakers stressed the progress of the colored race under Republican administrations, and told of what the Republican party has done and will do for the race.

The group was warned about selling their right of franchise for a WPA job or a sewing job. "There are all kinds of promises being made to you, but don't be fooled," said the speakers. Moving pictures showing the highlights of the campaign were shown, and the Crescent colored quartet delighted the group with numerous selections.

Respects were paid to four members of the League who had died during the past year. Louie H. White, spoke feelingly in eulogizing these members who were: Hon. Samuel D. Hart, member of the State House of Representatives for 16 years, a native of Bucks County, and a charter member of the League; Mrs. Sara D. Roe, who for many years served as secretary; Albert Burk, and Mrs. John John, Sellersville.

weird Spanish Gypsy tunes called the Flamenca.

We came through a guard of saluting soldiers into a big house which turned out to be the residence of the richest farmer of the village, and had been relatively little looted. Major Castejon was in the dining room with a group of officers when we were introduced and to my great satisfaction I recognized Captain Olivares who had piloted me around Seville. Olivares was good enough to give me an excellent sendoff with Major Castejon.

I sat next to the major. Around the table were fourteen officers. On my right, however, was a common soldier, without rank, the Marquess Del Nervion, a grandee of Spain and one of the richest men in the country who, at the age of 52, had enlisted. He was now attached to Major Castejon's staff, as were the two Irish officers. The Marquess, gray-haired, bent, absolutely unassuming, always carried a sub-machine gun with an extra long clip.

Castejon with a generosity that can only be appreciated by one who has had to sleep without even a mattress, ordered mattresses put down on the floor in the dining room. That night I slept royally, only waking for a second when dispatch bearers stepped over me to get to the major.

FALLSINGTON'S RECORD GIVES THEM THE EDGE

By Louis Tomlinson

Coach Jim Doherty's Orange and Black of Fallsington will go into their annual game with Bristol a slight favorite due to their brilliant record compiled this year.

Last year the "Farmers" had a poor season, winning only one out of eight games; but so far this year they have already equalled that mark—in fact they have by far exceeded it.

Moreover they will play before the home folks today for the first time this year and Doherty's lads will try to convince their following that their streak is no flash in the pan. Playing on the home field is an asset in any league in any competition, giving Fallsington a bit of an advantage there.

Now take a look at the facts. Fallsington in winning three and tying one, have piled up 60 points to their opponents' 6 showing their superior defense as well as a potent offensive power. Bristol, on the other hand, could only score 47 points in three games to their opponents' 25. The offensive power is not a failure by any means, but the defense is none too good, especially in view of the fact that in last week's game, Langhorne scored their first touchdown of the year against the Bunnies.

Again the Orange and Black are greatly aided by Mike DeRisi, Bristol alumnus, who is assisting Doherty with the squad and has drilled the boys against the local aggregation's offensive. Falls has seven letter men returning this year and will be led by acting captain Joe Cappiello.

On the other hand, Coach "Gloomy Bill" Dougherty has been drilling his first squad until after dark each night in preparation for an unusually hard battle as the Dohertymen will seek revenge for previous defeats handed them by the Cardinals; and to keep their slate clean, figuring to go through the season undefeated, if they can get by the Bunnies.

The Red and Gray boys will have a slight edge in weight over their rivals. The Doughertymen will average about 155 as compared to about 147 for Fallsington.

The fray will mark the turning point in the season for Coach Jim Doherty, for it will either make or break the big orange team, hence the battle should prove to be an interesting one all the way; and both sides will be fighting tooth and nail for every inch as they have in the past.

ST. ANN'S OPPONENTS HAVE GOOD RECORD

The Dittman Green Jackets who will help the St. Ann's A. A. football team to inaugurate its home season on Landreth field, Sunday afternoon, boast of a record that any team should be proud to have.

In 1934, the Jackets were the "Pop" Warner Conference Champions. Last season they were nosed out for the championship by the Kingessing Cards. This season they are the favorites to again regain the crown.

Thus far the Dittman Club has played five games, winning four and losing one. Last week the club came through with a surprise 7-6 victory over the strong Tulip Tigers, which is considered one of the best semi-pro teams in Philadelphia. The Green Jackets have also counted over Norristown, 18-0; Fox Chase, 12-0; and South Phillies, 12-0. Their lone defeat came at the hands of the Mount Holly Grads, 12-6.

Compared to the St. Ann's record, the Dittman team should easily cop the verdict against the home town boys who have played but two contests and dropped them both. Mount Holly beat the resident club, 12-0, and Mayfair finished on the long end of a 31-6 score.

The visiting aggregation has a triple-threat man in its captain, "Tiny" O'Mera, former Frankford High School star. O'Mera plays at a halfback post and this is the player that the Purple and Gold must stop if it intends to score a win. O'Mera has been the big gun in all the Dittman victories. Other players on the Dittman club are: Whitey Akers, Gige Domico, Frank Domico, Billy Whible, Danny Bullett and Bill Hoffman.

The St. Ann's Golden Avalanche went through another practice session last night and were given two more plays by Coach Dougherty. Both of the plays were scoring plays and will be tested in the tilt with the Green Jackets. Coach Dougherty is undecided as to who will be in his starting lineup as all players have shown up well in the practice sessions.

The "Saints" are anxious to grab this contest as they wish to have a victory under their belt before they play Doylestown at Doylestown next Sunday.

Mrs. Phillip Rineholt, New Brunswick, N. J., spent several days this week with Mr. and Mrs. William Conley, Benson Place.

BENSALEM ELEVEN TO PLAY PEMBERTON

The Bensalem High Owls, with colors flying high, will attempt to make it three out of four for the 1936 football campaign tomorrow afternoon on Bensalem field, when they will encounter the Pemberton (N. J.) High eleven.

Last week in the Yardley game, won by Bensalem by a 19-0 score, the minions of Coach Reimer clicked for three touchdowns in the first half, and then reverted to their listless style of playing and were actually outplayed by the Yardley eleven during the second half.

If the Pemberton game is to be written in the "won" column, the Owls will have to play football for a full game. Reimer sent his team through two stiff scrimmages during the past week in an effort to develop better defensive playing on the part of the line and also to try out several new plays.

On Monday, Assistant Coach Frank Meyer's Junior High team, will journey to Bristol and encounter the Bristol Juniors. Bensalem Varsity has an open date next week.

Kick-off for the Pemberton game will take place at 2:30 p. m. sharp.

Quaker Veterans and Tiger Stars in Clash

A University of Pennsylvania team of seniors is out to avenge their defeat of 1935 at the hands of Princeton's Black and Orange tricksters. Gene Gisburne, giant tackle, leads a smarter Quaker line and Frank Murray is back with those corner kicks and long passes. For Princeton, Steve Cullinan, center, and Tom Montgomery, fast blocking guard, are ready to open holes when Ken Sandbach, at quarterback, looses his fast Tiger backfield.

The banquet, which is given annually by Mr. Swartz, crowned one of the most successful seasons that the club has had. The first half race was won handily by the team and then in the play-off for second half honors the Trevose club came out winners by virtue of their victories over the Southampton team. Special praise was given Mr. Swartz last evening for his interest in the organization. He was also thanked for the use of the ball grounds. He donates his property every year to the use of the ball club.

Warren Tomlinson, manager of the team, spoke briefly as did Thomas Baxter, president of the organization.

Langhorne Auxiliary Hostess To Council

times in Europe, Mrs. Casey said to the gathering. "With all this turmoil in foreign parts my proudest boast is that I am an American and live in a country which believes in God." Early preparation for the American Legion parade in New York at the time of the national convention next year was advocated by the speaker. "The national commander wants a parade 24 hours long, and in that city which is the hot-bed of Communism in this country, it will be a good way to show them the American Legion is so powerful, so they will turn around and go back home. That will be a peaceful and beautiful way of telling them they better be good Americans or the Legion won't stand for them."

Mrs. Casey pleaded with the council and unit officers and chairmen to take their jobs seriously. Her own promise was to take as her slogan in serving the Auxiliary, the Golden Rule.

Minutes were read by Mrs. D. Rae Boyd, Norristown; and the treasurer's report presented by Mrs. A. Everett, Willow Grove. The first vice-president of the Council, Mrs. John S. Magill, Whitmarsh, occupied the chair, while Mrs. Frankfield presented the report of the morning session of the Presidents' and Secretaries' Conference held in Harrisburg on October 7th, at which gathering over 400 were present. The report of the afternoon meeting at Harrisburg, was ably given by the secretary, Mrs. Boyd.

Annual reports of unit activities were presented for Ambler Auxiliary by Mrs. Roy Smith, and for Fort Washington by Mrs. M. F. James. The Ambler unit had as high-lights in its year's work donations to the new post home and to the Needlework Guild; while Fort Washington's representative told of the organization of a girls' harmonica band with 105 members, 88 of whom are uniformed; the presentation of nearly 200 garments to the Needlework Guild; gifts to seven men and 13 children.

The past president of the council, Mrs. Perry Faust, Norristown, who is now chairman of unit activities, told of her interest in community service which is aligned with unit activities. She asked for reports on community service in order that suggestions might be passed along to other groups of members. She urged the women to "hammer away" in membership month, November.

Mrs. Harry S. Steelman, Philadelphia, Eastern director, told of arrangement for the membership contest in the form of a football game, with the slogan "Hold That Line!" The "round-up" will occur December 5th. Mrs. Paul Sine, Perkasie, retiring Eastern director, brought greetings to the gathering. Mrs. Sine is now rehabilitation chairman.

A motion was passed to contribute funds for showing of motion pictures to the veterans at Perry Point Hospital, Md., on Thanksgiving Day.

The November meeting will be at Collegeville; and the December session will be convened at Fort Washington.
